Owners Not In On State Buy Of Deer Lake Land Yet

Reports that the Ill. Dept. of Conservation may purchase 2,000 acres in Antioch Twp., off Rte. 173 near Deep Lake Rd., including some privately owned acreage around Deer Lake, have many people upset, including some owners of portions of the property in question.

One property owner claims that neither he nor any of the other property owners he has talked to have been contacted by IDOC.

Some residents of the surrounding territory are bothered by what they call "superfluous spending by IDOC," to have private land already used for conservation purposes, opened to the public.

Other residents fear that, since the reported plan of IDOC includes more acreage than is presently being used for nature conservation, IDOC intends to take over some residential property.

Bob Corrigan, chief of technical services at IDOC in Springfield said that such a plan is on IDOC's agenda but everything is just on paper right now and no action has been taken on the plan.

Corrigan said that the project would be paid for in two phases with Build Illinois Funds., one under the funds for natural areas and the other under wildlife funds.

The 240 acres that would come under natural areas have been planned for FY 88 funding and the rest under FY 89. But with the state budget still not set, Corrigan sees both projects being set back at least a year.

As to the possibility of the gobble-up of residential land, Corrigan said it will be done "with a minimal of residential or personal interruption."

One of the present property owners said "I really wouldn't like to sell the property to IDOC."

Share Food To Aid Those Who Register, Pay $14

Share-Food Antioch Area is being hosted by the Antioch Exchange Club with support from the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

The food is being obtained directly from growers and producers to help meet food and volunteer needs of the community.

A participant may be anyone, from anywhere, regardless of economic, social, cultural or religious background.

The cost each month, to purchase one unit share of food(50 pounds of food) is $14 plus three hours of community service. The food is selected by nutritionists and inspected by a retired USDA inspector.

A unit share usually includes eight to 12 pounds of frozen meat, eight to 12 pounds of potatoes and vegetables, 12-14 pounds of fruit plus cereals, canned goods, staples and goodies.

Scheduled delivery dates for the rest of 1987, at the Park Ave. Mall warehouse in Antioch, are July 25, Aug. 29, Sept. 26, Oct. 24, Nov. 21 and Dec. 19, from 9 a.m. to noon.

Those interested must register at the Antioch Twp. Office, the First National Bank of Antioch, the State Bank of Antioch or the Antioch Chamber Office by 1 p.m. of July 9, Aug. 13, Sept. 10, Oct. 8, Nov. 5 and Dec. 5.

For more information, or to volunteer to help, call the Antioch Chamber Office, (312)395-2233.

Plan Best Fourth Ever In Antioch

For the eighth year in a row, the Antioch Parks and Recreation Dept. is sponsoring an old fashioned Fourth of July celebration complete with Miss Antioch and Little Miss Antioch contests, a parade and a fireworks display.

The Miss Antioch and Little Miss Antioch pageants will take place at the Lions Club Pavilion in William Park, starting a 7 p.m. on Friday, July 3.

The parade, saluting the Antioch Lions Club's 50th anniversary, will start-off at Antioch High School, go through the main street in town, winding up at Williams Park on Saturday, July 4.

After the parade, there will be an old fashioned community picnic at Williams Park, complete with entertainment that includes music by local bands, all day long and after the fireworks in the evening.

Refreshments, games with prizes, water-fights and swimming will round out the picnic and as soon as it's dark enough, there will be a magnificent fireworks display, also at Williams Park.

Get New Booth For Baseball Announcer

Now that baseball season is in full swing, and the boys and girls are all having a lot of fun, there a lot of things that everyone takes for granted as they sit in the stands and watch their offspring compete.

For instance, every year new baseballs, bats, catchers equipment, etc. has to be purchased, not to mention new hats and uniforms that need replacing.

Most of these items are taken care of by registration and sponsor fees.

However, this year a new scorekeeper's booth was desperately needed at the Antioch Little League diamonds.

Thanks to the generosity and cooperation of the Village of Antioch and the Antioch VFW Sequoia Post 455, a new and larger building was erected.

This building houses not only the announcer and scorekeeper, but is also a storage area for field maintenance supplies.

Fire Destroys Norshor, Call Investigation

by GLORIA DAVIS

Antioch and Lake Villa firefighters fought a blaze, reported at 1:34 a.m., that completely destroyed the Norshor Resort owned by James Haley.

More than 35 firefighters from Antioch, Lake Villa, with Fox Lake on standby, fought the blaze that is under investigation by the state fire marshal's office as being of suspicious origin.

According to Wayne Parthun, assistant Antioch fire chief, the investigation is based on evidence which indicates more than one point of ignition.

Parthun said that damages from the June 25 fire have been estimated to be in excess of $100,000. According to the fire department's report, the resort had closed at approximately 11:30 p.m. and the night bartender had noticed nothing unusual at the time. There was no one on the premises at the time of the fire.

The investigation is being aided by Dep. Chief Rocky Pelletarie of the Round Lake

Fire Dept., Lt. Don Mobley of the Grayslake Fire Dept., the state fire marshal's office and the Lake County Sheriff's Dept.

Midnight Fire At Nippersink Manor

More than 50 firefighters from both Kenosha and Walworth Counties and northern Illinois fought a blaze that destroyed a large portion of Nippersink Manor Resort, in Benedict Lake, just after midnight on Tuesday.

The state fire marshall's office is still investigating the cause of the fire that razed the bedrooms, kitchen and dining room housed in the separate wooden structure. There have been reports that the fire possibly started in the kitchen area with a grease fire.

There were no guests of the Manor injured. One fireman was slightly hurt. No monetary estimate of the damage was available.

Investigating Norshor Fire

State Bank Announces Five Executive Promotions

Five promotions have been announced by State Bank of Antioch President Randy S. Miles. The promotions were approved at the June meeting of the bank's board of directors.

Those honored include Roger V. Manderscheid, executive vice president; Cynthia M. Stout, vice president, administrative services; Jean M. Rockow, assistant vice president, operations; Florence A. Babusek, assistant vice president, marketing; Carolyn J. Blanchette, assistant vice president, trust department.

Manderscheid joined the State Bank staff in May 1986 as vice president of bank operations, having previously headed the Stockton, Illinois office as a partner with O'Connor, Brooks Company, certified public accountants in Dubuque, Ia. He and his wife and three children reside in Antioch.

Stout joined the State Bank in 1984 as systems coordinator for the bank, with previous experience as microcomputer programmer for First Illinois National Bank of Savanna from 1982 to 1984. From 1980 to 1983 she was employed with Derrick Services International, Conroe, Texas, as assistant personnel manager. Stout currently holds the position of director and secretary of the Antioch Holding Company. She and her husband reside in Antioch with their two children.

Rockow has been employed at the State Bank since September of 1963, and became an assistant cashier in 1969, with primary responsibilities for teller operations and training. She was promoted to operations officer in 1979.

Rockow, who lives in Antioch, is a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, Northern Illinois Conservation Club, Antioch Woman's Club, treasurer of the Cemetery Association, and member of St. Ignatius Church of Antioch. Blanchette came to the State Bank in November, 1972 from Illinois State Bank of Chicago, with four years' experience in commercial lending, trust and real estate, credit, securities and safekeeping functions.

Early responsibilities for State Bank included extensive customer service in areas of major investments, purchase and sale of government and corporate securities, stocks and bonds, school trust accounts and new accounts. She was appointed operations officer in 1977 and trust officer in 1981 when the bank was granted trust powers.

Blanchette resides in Antioch with husband, Wayne.

Babusek began her banking career in October, 1972 as executive secretary to Preston J. Reckers, State Bank vice president of marketing. In 1979, she served as executive secretary to former executive vice president, James Swiatek, and was appointed supervisor of New Accounts-Customer Service in early 1980. She was promoted to officer and marketing director in June, 1982, following the retirement of Mr. Reckers after 25 years of service. She is second vice president of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry, a member of the College of Lake County General Advisory Council, member of the Bank Marketing Assn., and a 15-year member of the Antioch Woman's Club. Babusek resides in Twin Lakes, Wis.

Attack Of Cottonwoods' Fuzzies Frustrates Family

by GLORIA DAVIS

Nature has always played havoc with those who have allergies and the "fuzzies" that fly through the air from cottonwood trees have long been one of early summer's biggest offenders.

Antioch Twp.'s Ruth (Sonny) Krajci and her husband Edward have been, for the last month, undergoing suffering above and beyond the norm, caused by a five-story-tall clump of cottonwoods growing on the vacant lots across from their home off of Drexel Blvd.

Talk about Christmas in July! The grass in the Krajci's yard is frosted, their garage (when the door is left open) looks like it was the scene of a tremendous pillow fight, with feather pillows used as the weapons.

The air surrounding the Krajci homestead, more often than not, resembles one of those glass globes one shakes to get a winter snowfall scene. Their screens also look like some of Jack Frost's handiwork.

"It's bad enough that these feathery things keep clogging our lawnmower and it has to be taken apart all the time and fixed, the worst thing about this is the effect it has on my allergies," says Sonny, who has bronchial trouble.

And, as if that allergic reaction isn't enough, she adds, "My daughter-in-law can't even visit me with the grandchildren. She is so allergic that she chokes and breaks out as soon as she gets out of the car."

Since the Krajcis own the seven lots across from the offending trees, they seem to be affected more than the rest of the neighborhood. In their quest for a solution to the attack of the fuzzy army they were sent on the usual bureaucratic circle which started with Antioch Twp. Hwy. Commissioner Mark Ring and ended with Antioch Twp. Hwy. Commissioner Mark Ring.

Ring told her that he had no jurisdiction since the trees were growing on private property and suggested she talk to the Lake County Board of Health.

The health department sent her to the environmental health agency where she was told that they also could do nothing for her, intimating that the entire thing was "a happening or act of God."

From the county, Sonny sought help from the Village of Antioch, to be told that this was not a village problem and it was suggested that she talk to Antioch Twp. Hwy. Commissioner Mark Ring.

The Antioch Reporter also talked to the various agencies with the same result. Eric Nystuen, assistant district supervisor at the health department, suggested that the Krajcis try and contact the owner of the property the trees are growing on.

That's where the Krajcis are at press time, going through the arduous task of searching in the township files for said owner. Meanwhile the army of fuzzies continues to attack. One thing for sure, the thoughts of a White Christmas next December doesn't appeal to the Krajcis at the moment.

Violent Incidents Disturb Firemen's Dance Frivolity

The many people that crowded into the Antioch Firemen's Dance on Saturday to have a good time and contribute to the fire department's biggest fund raiser, were disturbed by several incidents, most of them involving out-of-towners.

According to Lt. Tom Fisher, a 16-year-old girl was punched in the face and Debra

Katrina Meyer

Ephraim, Chicago, received a broken nose as the result of being attacked in the parking lot by an unknown group of girls.

An argument and a pushing match resulted in the arrest of Donald J. Cerny, 22, Addison, Ill., and Bruce Szelag, 26, Fox Lake, on charges of battery, after Fisher, who tried to intercede, was shoved, hit, and had his badge and radio knocked off.

Ronald Stalker, 31, Kenosha, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and the illegal transportation of alcohol after he drove his truck through a road block in the parking lot, almost hitting a policeman.

Many municipalities have curtailed outdoor festivals because of the rising insurance costs and also because they consistently tend to draw outsiders that make trouble, all usually caused by the heavy consumption of alcohol.

Dist. 34

The Dist. 34 Board of Education has approved putting a new roof on the Oakland Grade School and selling 1979 van belonging to school district.

The Building, Zoning Mess

For more than two months, Lakeland Newspapers has been publishing weekly articles about problems involving enforcement of zoning and building regulations in unincorporated areas—the purview of County Building Officer Robert Streicher.

To put it mildly, enforcement is a mess. Even Streicher admits that things could be better. He hastens to explain, when called upon, that Lake County is a rapidly growing county, and that his staff is inadequate to handle the volume. Depending on your point of view, building department personnel either are overworked or underworked. Streicher likes to point to stacks of unworked files to illustrate the load office and field personnel are attempting to process.

Several facts become apparent from the series written by news editor Larry Wittnebert. Problems and complaints are widespread. The problems and complaints involve enforcement, or the lack of enforcement, rather than with the regulations themselves. Typically, concerned citizens living in unincorporated areas simply want established codes enforced.

One of the major problems in building and zoning, in our opinion, is the indifference expressed by members of the Lake County Board, who technically are Streicher's boss and have the final say-so over what goes on in the department. We think Dist. 3 Rep. Eleanor Rostrom, chairman of the planning and zoning committee, and Dist. 1 Rep. Helen Belmont Amendola, chairman of the building and health committee, need to get more involved in what goes on in Streicher's department and the kind of service it is rendering to the public. It is interesting, we believe, that prospective County Board candidates in Dist. 4 and 6, on the county's west side, are schooling themselves in zoning and building inadequacies with the likelihood that they will make them campaign issues in the 1988 elections.

The old system where township supervisors called the shots on building and zoning matters in unincorporated areas came in for much criticism before it was replaced some years ago. Even though they always kept one eye on the political implications of a zoning change and they could be charged with favoritism sometimes, the supervisors could never be accused of indifference. They got the job done. That's more than can be said today.

Main St. Is Our Mirror

One of the common threads among American communities the past 20 years has been the deterioration, and in many the cases the disappearance, of traditional main street retail hubs. Both merchants and shoppers have been heading for the malls and strip centers since World War II and the trend doesn't appear to be subsiding.

Here and there, main street has been revived with gimmicks like one-way traffic, or no traffic, plantings, installation of benches, refurbishing of sidewalks and streetlights in an effort to create a more inviting shopping environment. Certainly, there are enough success stories to give heart to communities which refuse to write off downtown.

Grayslake is one of the communities in the Lakeland area that has struggled over the years with the problem of keeping its main street alive as a viable commercial thoroughfare despite competition from all sides. Once again the need to "do" something has surfaced as part of the program of the Grayslake Economic Development Commission, an arm of the village council.

Commissioners held a public meeting to seek ideas and opinions from business people and interested citizens. Need for retail revitalization quickly surfaced as a priority, overlaying accomplishments the commission has made in helping create new industrial jobs and providing for growth in housing.

As ideas and opinions were voiced, a pattern developed that was remarkably similar to meetings on the same subject 10 years ago—and even 20 years ago. Factors cited as inhibiting retail growth and development included inadequate parking, unrealistically high rents, indifference of absentee property owners, lack of aggressive merchandising, need for improvement of local government, networking with support groups like the Chamber of Commerce and financial institutions.

If the problems are the same, doesn't anyone hear? Does anyone care? Can you learn from the past? The questions come tumbling out and are begging for answers. Significantly, the downtown problems aren't peculiar to Grayslake. Main street's headaches truly are a shared experience.

One thing we're sure of. Main streets are worth saving. We have too much invested in downtown. The downtown is vital to the socio-economic fabric of the community. Downtown is a mirror of ourselves. How a community takes care of its main street tells a lot.

Citizens Outspoken, Informed

There was a time when a scowl and a growl from Mayor Robert Sabonjian of Waukegan was enough to send even the strongest of heart heading for cover.

Sabonjian bowed out of politics for a number of years, involving himself in private business. When he decided to return to public life (successfully, we must note), a lot of things had changed in politics, including how the public perceives scowling and growling mayors. Briefly, they don't pay much attention to antics anymore, so the likes of the householder writing to the editor this week (see letters to the editor) will continue to be part of the public scene.

Citizen attendance at public meetings isn't any more than it used to be, but when the voting public does show up, it is better informed and more assertive. Posturing on the part of public officials only seems to intensify citizen effort, like a coach exhorting the team in reverse. Citizens aren't afraid to cross boundaries. Call it the new politics, but outspoken citizen input is here to stay.

Give Heier Credit For His Attempt To Save Lives

by BILL SCHROEDER

Anyone with an idea and the courage to speak out always is a target for distractors and doubters. James T. Heier figures that's the way Thomas Edison and Robert Fulton must have felt at times.

Heier has been ridiculed, scorned, criticized and berated, to describe milder forms of abuse (this is a family newspaper) because of his suggestion of placing a wrecked car at a prominent spot in Vernon Hills as a reminder of the dangers of speeding.

Actually, a smashed car used as a monument for safe driving isn't a new idea. The "Wreck of the Week" or the "Crash of the Month" have been used elsewhere with varying degrees of success to jolt errant drivers to mend their ways. Piling up some crushed cars along Rtes. 83 and 45 at the state line might have deterred underage local kids from boozing it up in Wisconsin saloons before Wisconsin joined the civilized world and adopted a uniform drinking age. Anything to save lives.

Where Heier went wrong, if you want to call it a mistake, is that he forgot momentarily that he's an elected official (trustee of the Village of Vernon Hills) and that elected officials aren't supposed to have original ideas and they aren't expected to speak out.

So the electronic media depicted him as a kook or some kind of vampire. If you saw any of the 10 o'clock news reports, you got the impression that Heier gets his kicks robbing graves. Heier doesn't have a closet laboratory where he concocts secret potions. "If this (the wrecked car display) can make people stop and think a little bit, that's all I'm trying to do," he explains simply.

We think Heier is on to something and we'd hate to see him back off because of some faint hearts. You're not a freak when you want to try and help someone. Heier got caught in the backlash of public shock over the particular wreck he chose—the mangled remains of a car in which four of six Crystal Lake youths were killed when it crashed into a tree. Poor choice and bad timing. A wreck is a wreck.

NEW LIFE—Contrary to what a lot of NFL buffs feel and Monday night football addicts insist, there is life after football. Or life without football. Credit Kurt Kapischke with that observation.

The former Antioch High athlete who was a line mainstay on several Augustana College Div. III national champions hasn't forgotten football, but he's doing nicely without it. Somewhat lighter than in his playing days, Kapischke is a salesman-and-partner-with employee-owned Leslie Paper located in Des Plaines. Kurt chose a career in paper sales after unsuccessful attempts to land a berth with the Dallas Cowboys and later with the Green Bay Packers.

No more playing days for Kapischke. "I'm in the working world now," he grins. Kurt mentioned, though, that it might be fun to do some part-time coaching with one of the Chicago-area college teams.

A former teammate of his at Augustana, Joe Wheeler, has joined the staff as an assistant at Carmel High where he played as a prep. Wheeler is employed in sales by a pharmaceutical firm.

SOME SUMMER—A young friend of ours is having the experience of a lifetime going to school in Europe this summer. Lisle Kauffman got his degree from Blackburn College and packed his bags for six weeks abroad to study literature in England and medieval history in Belgium. The grass and flowers at Avon Twp. Center, which Lisle nurtured so carefully the past several summers, have been turned over to other hands. He'll be going to graduate school this fall.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—Pop got the message. A new power saw and a cordless electric drill, signals of Father's Day, are being put to good use on household projects. It's ironic and more than a little amusing that the people who helped deplete my stock of tools now are replenishing them. Thanks, kids.

Letters To The Editor

Show Interest

Editor:

Mayor Robert Sabonjian of Waukegan says he is angry about the regular appearance of a contingent of Green Oaks residents at meetings of the Waukegan Developmental Commission, "telling Waukegan how to develop their city."

We are attending the meetings to follow a rezoning petition within the City of Waukegan that directly affects our community and the school districts of Woodland/Warren and Oak Grove/Libertyville. I encourage more people from all Lake County communities to show the same interest in their own areas of local government and school administration.

Concerned citizens are needed in Lake County. Let us not be criticized for attending meetings and being involved in local affairs. Perhaps we can prevent some potential problems and solve a few existing ones, and all of Lake County, including Waukegan, will be better for it.

Duncan Pool Members Planning New Pool

by LARRY WITTNEBERT

Members of the Camp Duncan swimming pool have launched a two-prong effort to preserve their recreation.

They are negotiating with YMCA in attempts to keep their present facility operational and they are working on plans to develop a new pool.

It will cost a proposed $200,000 to keep the Duncan Pool open for one year, starting in July.

Funding would come from membership fees, user fees and donations. However, pool committee members will make a counter-proposal to YMCA by July 10.

Members realize that over the long term Camp Duncan will emphasize camping.

Thus, they are mapping plans to develop a community-owned swimming pool with no strings attached to YMCA.

They are asking YMCA to donate a 70-acre site where the pool would be built. Formerly called Buffalo Hill, the land is located on Fish Lake Rd., between Highway 120 and Molitor Rd.

The property is part of 200 acres owned by YMCA with most in the Grant Twp., said Annie Clausen, one of the organizers.

The land is now used as a dumping ground and is a burden to YMCA, she said. "As long as it's free of chemical contamination, we'd appreciate receiving it."

A fund for contributions to the new pool effort has been set up at Fox Lake State Bank and donations can be sent to McHenry-Lake Pool Foundation, c/o Fox Lake State Bank, 55 E. Grand Ave., Fox Lake, IL 60020.

Pool organizers feel they have a population base for the new facility and are asking for volunteers to serve on committees, make donations and build the pool.

Community leaders, professional people and trades people are needed, she said.

To discuss results of a survey on pool support, concerned people met June 25 at the Camp Duncan Lodge.

The pool committee received 277 out of 949 surveys sent out.

Survey remarks showed some discontent with the $200,000 figure, calling it unrealistic.

Most respondents said they would be willing to pay higher membership fees.

Bill Mathis, executive director of Camp Duncan, represented YMCA at the June 25 meeting and said that he would report results to them.

A public information meeting will be held at 7 p.m. July 21 at the Camp Duncan Lodge to present results of the counter-proposal and give an update on planning for the new facility.

Local Hospital Costs Are On Par With State Average

Hospital costs in the 32nd Dist. compare favorably with state averages for the same hospital care, according to State Sen. Jack Schaffer (R-McHenry County).

Information on hospital costs in the districts are included in a new brochure, "The Consumer Guide to Charges at Illinois Hospitals by Illness Categories," published by the Illinois Health Care Cost Containment Council.

The brochure lists average statewide hospital costs for the 20 most frequent illness categories and comes in two versions: illnesses affecting those 65 years of age and older, and one for people under 65, according to Sen. Schaffer.

"The brochure lists the cost information on a statewide, regional and individual hospital basis, allowing consumers the chance to make informed decisions on purchasing and evaluating health care services," Schaffer said. "It shows that our area hospitals included in the cost survey often charge less than the state average for types of care listed."

Schaffer said the Health Care Cost Containment Council was created to encourage competition between hospitals, in an effort to clamp down on health care costs. "This gives consumers a complete and accurate estimate of local health care costs while helping them develop an awareness of major factors that influence hospital charges, including intensity of care, length of hospital stay and treatment patterns of individual physicians," Schaffer added.

The data for the brochure was compiled from the state's approximately 250 hospitals between July 1 and Dec. 31, 1985. The leading category for those under age 65 was normal childbirth, with the statewide average hospital charge being $1,716.

Some area hospitals listed in the brochure include Condell Memorial, Libertyville; Highland Park Hospital; Memorial Hospital, Woodstock; Northern Illinois Medical Center, McHenry; and St. Therese Medical Center and Victory Memorial Hospital, Waukegan.

The average cost for normal childbirth in some area hospitals are as follows: $1,551, Condell; $1,557, Highland Park; $982, Memorial Hospital; $1,551, Northern Illinois Medical Center; $1,389, St. Therese; $1,571, Victory Memorial Hospital.

The average state cost for treating heart failure and/or shock—the leading illness category for those over 65—is $5,296. The average stroke patient's costs at area hospitals are as follows: $4,528, Condell; $5,740, Highland Park; $5,087, Woodstock; $3,918, McHenry; $4,079, St. Therese; and $5,933, Victory Memorial.

"I am pleased to see that the rates for our local hospitals compare so favorably with other hospitals in this area of the state and with state averages," Schaffer said.

Schaffer said he expects to have a supply of booklets available in his office soon. Free copies of the "Consumer's Guide to Charges at Illinois Hospitals by Illness Categories" may now be obtained by calling toll-free, (800)325-9564.

Fireworks Are Still Causing Many Injuries

"Just fooling around" with fireworks can be deadly.

Two Illinois children died in serious fireworks accidents last year. An eight-year-old Chicago girl lost an eye. And many others suffered severe burns, lacerations and amputations.

"Please think before you 'just fool around' with fireworks," urged Edgar T. Britton, executive director of the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

The ISPB conducts an annual survey of Illinois ophthalmologists and emergency rooms in Illinois hospitals, and last year's results showed injuries to the eyes at the same high level as they were in 1985. All kinds of injuries from fireworks have doubled over the last 10 years, according to the Illinois Dept. of Public Health.

For eye injuries alone, more males than females continue to be injured by three to one, according to the ISPB's survey. Almost 40 percent of injuries to the eye are among 10- to 19-year-olds, and those under 10 suffered the next highest number (27 percent). The 20 to 29 age category accounted for almost 20 percent of the injuries, indicating that age is no protection against injury, Britton said.

"While public fireworks displays draw large audiences, the temptation is there just to fool around with individual firecrackers and rockets," Britton said. "And we find that the accident reports are pretty steady through the month of July, even though the Fourth of July is in the first part of the month."

Concerned by the statistics, the ISPB organized and coordinates a coalition of 22 medical, fire prevention and public safety organizations interested in promoting public awareness of the dangers of fireworks.

Family 'Business' Of Healing Overtakes Patients

Years ago, a national magazine ran an exposé of a very popular charity. Careful documentation revealed that of the millions donated by generous Americans to help the sick, a very minor amount was applied for that purpose. The rest (90 percent) went for big salaries, opulent offices, generous travel, Cadillacs and other goodies spread around to the high officers of this non-profit organization.

from days when the title meant giving service without pay. Our present day hospital volunteers still earn our gratitude by following this tradition.

Americans have a peculiar attitude toward earning money. Supposedly crass and materialistic, some feel guilt about it, so an employee of an ordinary firm (for-profit), may not have the prestige or glamour. He works for money in a place intended to make money. He may gain prestige only if he makes a lot of it. It's interesting that's where non-profit people go for their donations.

Musings notes that hospitals now buy practices, enter joint ventures with doctors, enter contracts with HMOs, contract with alcohol-drug dependency units, run shops, run satellites hiring doctors to compete with their own staffs, and engage in other business activities; so exact division into profit and non-profit entities in the money game cannot be determined without (and sometimes even with) a program. Since healing as a business is complicated, let's indulge in considering how this came about.

In the beginning, the sick person would be helped by friend or family. As in everything else, some were better helpers or healers than others. They would be sought out and gain titles or a religious aura, as in primitive societies. Even if they were willing to travel, more people could be helped if they weren't spending time traveling. Besides, the relatives would go great distances to bring the sick to a respected healer. By the time medical schools were invented, the doctor's office was well established.

Musings: Medicine was developed as an art to help the sick. The whole ball of wax was dedication as well as skill, drugs, attitude toward people, and heart. In the absence of special claims to science, the old-time physician understood this well. He didn't advertise that he was better or cheaper or kinder. Strangely, he was understood, appreciated, and was not blamed for results beyond his control.

Further advances brought centralization in hospitals where prolonged skilled care was given and advanced the training, research and equipment.

It also brought a progressively enlarging support group, administration and employees that render no hands-on care of the sick. This, if overdone, leaves less money for hands-on care of the sick. It also may be part of the increased cost of medical care that has not received the attention it deserves. Slimming the work force is a chore calling for the wisdom of Solomon and an understanding public.

One suggestion is a peer review group like that used for doctors to check administration and non-patient care personnel, aimed at increasing efficiency. We can't get along without support people any more than we can get along without doctors. There is a Joint Commission for the Accreditation of Hospitals, but it comes around once every one or two years and is inappropriate for this purpose. Also inappropriate is self-police. The public now knows it hasn't worked for any unbridled bureaucracy.

Medical usings

By Leo Tannenbaum, M.D.

Memory for this scandal didn't last long. It did have one object lesson: a non-profit group can be a money maker for some connected with it. It takes special circumstances for this. Non-profit employees enjoy a unique prestige derived directly

General Assembly Passes Steel Shot Legislation

Senate Bill 924, the so-called "lead shot" or "toxic shot" bill, passed the Illinois House today.

Conservation Director Mark French announced approval of the bill by a vote of 111 to 0, with one representative voting "present." He noted that the House today had followed the Senate's May 21 example. In the Senate, the bill had passed 56-2.

The legislation will go to Gov. James R. Thompson for signature within the next few weeks. He has 60 days from receipt in which to sign or reject it.

"We are very pleased with the passage of this bill; it is something for which the Conservation Department has worked long and hard.

Its approval will ensure that all waterfowl across the state will be able to hunt as they have in the past," French said.

Failure of the legislation might have meant that some areas in Illinois would be closed to waterfowl hunting this fall. Under a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service mandate, lead shot will be phased out of hunting entirely throughout the nation by 1991. That phaseout is to take four years, beginning this year, with counties having waterfowl harvests greater than 20 birds per acre.

Such counties in Illinois were identified by the USFWS, but it was up to the state to make the necessary regulation prohibiting the use of lead shot in these areas.

Passage of SB 924 gives the Department of Conservation authority to designate as steel-shot-only areas those counties cited by the Fish and Wildlife Service, without lengthy biological documentation of lead shot's damaging effects. The state's failure to take that action would have resulted in USFWS closure of those counties to waterfowl hunting.

Among counties which might have been adversely affected were Lake and Clinton, and portions of Jefferson, Carroll, Henderson, Calhoun, Putnam, Masson and Cass.

House sponsors of Senate Bill 924 were William Peterson of Prairie View and Myron Kulas, Chicago. In the Senate, the legislation was sponsored by John Davidson, Springfield; "Babe" Woodyard, Chrisman; and Robert Madigan, Lincoln.

No business will be transacted on Saturday, July 4, Independence Day. Regular business hours will resume on Monday, July 6. Have a safe and Happy Independence Day.

OVER 100 MODERN & FUNCTIONAL HOME DESIGNS

New Catalog

Contemporary design in new homes is shown in this catalog, "The Essential Guide to Contemporary Home Plans."

What's New In Homes? Check Picture Catalog

Innovative designers have influenced styling of contemporary houses today, and coast-to-coast market popularity keeps them in vogue.

To illustrate what's current in contemporary architecture, the nation's largest publisher of house plans and construction blueprints has published a picture catalog, "The Essential Guide to Contemporary Home Plans."

The oversize 304-page book from Home Planners, Inc. features an informative discussion of contemporary design.

It traces roots of contemporary design and shows the many forms of contemporary architecture prevalent in the U.S. since World War II.

Contemporary design, according to the book, "breaks the box" of traditional residential styling with special concessions to contemporary lifestyle.

Construction blueprints are available for each design. The book is

High Interest Rates Dent Home Sales

Higher mortgage interest rates put a slight dent in Baird & Warner's May home resales, but year-to-date figures nearly equaled last year's boom, reports Alex F. March, sales manager of the Libertyville area office at 1113 S. Milwaukee Ave.

"After a jump in interest rates which slowed activity, the market and rates have stabilized. Activity throughout all regions is regaining momentum," March said.

The combined total volume of residential and non-residential sales through May was $564,024,310 on 4,222 transactions, a two percent dip in dollar volume and a 12 percent decrease in participations.

Year-to-date residential sales totaled $516 million on 4,043 transactions, representing volume that was one percent less than last year's figures and a 13 percent decrease in participations.

Nonresidential sales for the period totaled $48 million on 179 transactions, an 11 percent decrease in volume and a five percent increase in participations.

Nonresidential sales generated by the company's corporate group represent sales of commercial and industrial property, vacant land and apartment investment.

Residential home resales in May totaled nearly $106.2 million on 760 transactions, respective decreases of 11 percent and 19 percent.

Nonresidential sales for the month totaled $6.1 million on 29 participations, respective decreases of 18 percent and three percent.

The combined total for May was $112.3 million on 789 transactions, respective decreases of 11 percent and 18 percent.

What's Mine Is Mine Until Visitors Arrive

by GLORIA DAVIS

We all know about Murphy's law and most of us have experienced the old "if anything can go wrong it will." And now many of the people in Lake and Kenosha counties can identify with a similar phenomenon, yet to be named after anybody.

I speak of the maxim, "The worth of a good discovery depends on the time it takes for someone else to discover it too."

Now that summer is upon us, those of us lucky enough to live in the Chain O' Lakes area or in the vicinity of one of southeastern Wisconsin's many beautiful lakes, know what it's like to fight our summer visitors for a chance to use the natural attributes which gave either our parents or ourselves the impetus to locate our homes in this area.

Despite the fact that we understand that Mother Nature, the polygamous creature that she is, can belong to no one man, we tend to covet her charms, especially those that nine months out of the year by residents and their dining out for breakfast, lunch and dinner. It's a pretty hard morsel to swallow when you have stand in line for an hour at your favorite eatery while out of towners, who may never dine there again, get served.

Lake and Kenosha counties have more than their share of beautifully kept county parklands, partially made possible and maintained by monies from the county's cut of area property taxes.

Both the Ill. and Wis. Departments of Conservation contribute to the upkeep of the state parks systems so other than local residents of both states do pay part of that park freight.

When Wisconsin's "cheeseheads" use state and county parks over the border in Illinois it seems to be a legal form of trespassing, ditto the thousands of "flatlanders" that invade Kenosha County's park domain.

When I Think About It

our taxes enhance.

When you paid a high price for lakefront property and continue to pay an even higher price in annual taxes, it hurts when non-residents take over your favorite fishing or sailing spot come the summer weekends. Especially when you have to work on weekdays to pay for that property and weekends are all that you have left to enjoy it.

And isn't it frustrating to know that usurpers are using those sunbathed jewels of nature during the week while on their vacation, as you slave away in an air conditioned office from sun-up practically to sunset!

No one will deny (even the most possessive of us) that the money flow brought by tourists is a necessary fact of life in a recreational area. But right is right, and no matter how you cut the watermelon, the local taxpayer who is supporting an area all year round with his weekly paycheck should still have some sort of precedence over the interloping weekend or vacationing visitor.

The local restaurants are kept in the black

But visitors often pay users fees, you say. It would be interesting to see the ratio between what is paid by residents' taxes and what the total user fee take is.

We're talking here about those outside of a county using county facilities and those outside of a state using state-supported recreational areas or non-residents using private lakes, parks, etc. paid for by the surrounding property owners.

One suggestion is that identification as a resident be used to give the holder of such ID preference over non-residents.

Another apropos adage is one based on the fact that it has been proven in the majority of cases that "those who pay for something usually take better care of it than one who either borrows, uses, is given or simply takes it."

So, for those who believe everyone should share the recreational wealth, let's see that those who do not treat things "as their own" have that privilege tempered through more and better policing and the enforcement of fines against such perpetrators.

The local restaurants are kept in the black

Herich Attends Seminar

Two hundred thirty outstanding sophomores from high schools across northern Illinois attended the Hugh O'Brian Youth (HOBY) Foundation Northern Illinois Leadership Seminar. Held June 19 through 21 on the campus of Loyola University, this all-expense-paid weekend focused on the subject of America's Incentive System.

Deborah Herich, who attends Antioch Community High School, was sponsored by the Antioch Women's Club. The club was one of more than 100 civic-minded service organizations and businesses which contributed funds and gifts-in-kind to make the seminar possible.

When asked to comment on the weekend experience, Herich noted that her favorite part of the seminar was "when Alan Cargeran spoke on 'The Bicentennial of the United States Constitution.'"

She went on to say that the most memorable part of the seminar was "when Hugh O'Brian came to speak to the young people attending the seminar. He gave each and every young person there the confidence to succeed through their life. O'Brian made sure that we, the people who will be running the country in the next few years, know what an important responsibility we have."

CLC Gives Raises Across The Board

The College of Lake County Board of Trustees approved new salary and fringe benefit packages for its administrative, professional, paraprofessional and classified employees during its June meeting.

Administrative and professional salaries were boosted by six percent, and $250 was added to the fringe benefit allowance for a total of $1,750 per fiscal year. The board also set new tuition reimbursement rates for job-related workshops or coursework, allotting $500 per year for workshops and seminars and up to $1,500 per year for college study.

At the paraprofessional and classified levels, the board voted to increase salaries by 6.5 percent and added $250 for a total fringe benefit amount of $1,750. Tuition reimbursement for coursework was raised from $800 to $1,200 per year.

The board also authorized a public hearing on its tentative 1987-88 budget to be held Aug. 25 at 6:45 p.m. at the Grayslake campus. The tentative budget, scheduled for adoption at the Aug. 25 meeting, will be made available for public inspection on July 24 at 9 a.m. in the business office on the main campus. The date of the next regular board meeting was changed from July 21 to July 28 at 7 p.m.

In the president's report, Dr. Daniel LaVista outlined college goals for the upcoming year. Some of those goals, endorsed by college trustees, include expanding services and programs to extensions populations; improving transfer agreements and job placement services; working with other institutions to meet community and state needs for training and economic development; improving minority student access and opportunity; implementing enrollment management plans that feature services for students and encourage retention; and further exploring the concept of a community-based performing arts center.

The board presented a commemorative plaque to Peggy Wade, who is retiring after 14 years as the secretary to the dean of student services. Wade, a Waukegan resident, was recognized in a resolution for her dedication and years of service to the college.

In other activity, the board:

-Accepted the extension of the contract to provide technical instruction at the Great Lakes Naval Training School through March 31, 1988.

-Approved updated joint agreements with McHenry County College, Oakton Community College and William Rainey Harper College.

-Approved a manufacturing engineering technology associate of applied science degree. This course of study, an extension of current programs, would train students to work as engineering technicians in a modern manufacturing setting.

-Accepted the U.S. Army's one-year contract to train military and civilian personnel at Fort Sheridan in effective communication under the Advanced Skill Education Program. The contract allows for four additional optional years.

-Accepted the $800 Illinois Arts Council grant to assist the Community Gallery of Art in purchasing a painting by Illinois artist Judith Roth.

-Approved new rates for the college's self-funded medical and dental insurance plans. Monthly medical premiums for employees, dependents and Medicare were raised to cover higher claim estimates for the coming year. Monthly dental premiums were raised by 42 percent to cover budget deficits from the fiscal year ending this month.

Carmel Receives National Honor

Carmel High School for Boys was notified by U.S. Secretary of Education William J. Bennett that it has been awarded a Certificate of Merit from the Council of American Private Education, U.S. Dept. of Education.

The certificate was awarded on the basis of quality of programs, practices and policies, and innovation in seeking successful improvements.

Carmel High School for Boys was one of only 670 schools considered for the honor among schools in each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the American Virgin Islands.

In receiving the award, Father William Harry, O. Carm., principal of the school, noted, "We are honored by this recognition from Secretary Bennett. But at the same time we realize that this certificate is a step and not the end of our journey. We will continue to strive and to trust that we will always continue to be deserving of this unique honor."

Move On To Simplify Sewage Plant Authority

by LARRY WITTNEBERT

The Northwest Regional Advisory Committee is probing ways to simplify the levels of authority over the regional sewage treatment facility at Fox Lake.

Two ways have been suggested by Charles Johnston, a non-voting member, and he was directed to gather input on the proposals from mayors of each village concerned with the facility and from representatives of sanitary districts.

Johnston, who received his directive at the committee's June 25 meeting, said that major questions regarding the regional plant are who's in charge and who's responsible.

Thus, he suggested simplifying the lines of decision-making authority by either creating a sanitary district with wards and elected trustees or providing an intergovernmental agreement among the different communities that would establish a board.

Johnston was asked to discuss these proposals with the village heads and to report results of those discussions to a subcommittee meeting July 16.

Johnston said that "no one is arguing against the regional system. It has reduced pollution."

He said that a major principle of democracy is that users of service have say-so over the operation.

Under his suggestions, customers of the regional system would have both control and responsibility.

The control question looms as the last hurdle facing the committee regarding the system.

Grant Twp. Wants Eyesores Removed

This is the 10th in a series of articles dealing with the problem of building and zoning violations.

by LARRY WITNEBERT

Grant Twp. says that it is tired of red tape that hampers prompt removal of junk vehicles.

It notes in a newsletter that the number of wrecks rusting away in private yards seems to be increasing.

The county officially terms the wrecks as "inoperable vehicles," even if they've been in the same spot for years, according to the newsletter.

At times, however, when the township approaches the county about such vehicles, it says they have been re-tagged and can't be moved pending action by the State's Attorney's Office.

The township says that it is tired of such red tape, and thus have decided to take action itself.

Junk vehicles and debris-covered property may be the subject of photographs.

The township suggests that if the "inoperable vehicle" has been on property a long time, the owner should remove it and put it out of sight in a garage if intentions are to have it repaired.

The township goes on to say that it's unfair for persons who try to keep up their property to live by those who don't.

Eyesores not only mar a neighborhood's appearance but lower property values, too.

Interest Rates Begin To Decline

by GARY S. MEYERS and ROBERT STENBECK

After two months of rises, interest rates began to decline this week. The decline is due primarily to an easing of investors' fears about runaway inflation, the falling dollar, Third World debt and the trade deficit, all of which sparked the increases.

Workers Contribute To Charity

The United Way of Lake County received the $121,000 pledged by the employees of Commonwealth Edison for the 1986 Campaign.

On hand to accept congratulations from Kenneth Farmer, 1987 general campaign chairperson for the United Way of Lake County and vice president, Management Information Services for Abbott Laboratories, were some of Edison's United Way committee members such as Howard Liske, Gurnee; Patricia Sarna, Lake Geneva, WI; Al Stilling, McHenry; John Sanberg, Fox Lake; Ken Cotton, Chicago; Jackie Tyrell, Crystal Lake; Gary Schmidt, McHenry; Dave Johnson, Waukegan; Oneida Rapier, Waukegan; Ron Koskiewicz, Harwood Heights; Ann Arend, Palatine; George Mochocki, Lake Zurich; and Wendy Loe, Lake Villa.

The United Way of Lake County runs an annual fundraising campaign to support 96 human service programs provided by 35 local agencies serving residents throughout Lake County.

The United Way of Lake County has set the 1987 campaign goal at $3.4 million.

Over the last two weeks, reports have shown that the inflation fears were largely unfounded. The dollar has stabilized and U.S. banks have significantly increased their loan loss reserves, strengthening the individual banks and the U.S. banking system as a whole.

The uneventful conclusion of the Venice economic summit and the smooth changing of the guard at the Federal Reserve Board have helped ease some investor concerns as well.

ECONOMIC INDICATORS

Recent economic reports released by the government indicate that the economy is experiencing stable growth.

The gross national product growth for the first quarter of 1987 was revised up to 4.8 percent from 4.3 percent.

Industrial production jumped 0.5 percent in May. The index is up 2.9 percent from May, 1986. It has posted increases in nine of the last 12 months.

"Our factories are producing more, as aluminum and zinc usage is very strong," said Ed Cohen, a major midwestern metals recycler. "Earlier reports of a sluggish economy are not quite accurate."

The current account deficit for the first quarter of 1987, $37.1 billion, showed a slight decline from $38 billion for the fourth quarter of 1986. Whether this represents the beginning of a trend remains to be seen, but the signs are good.

Personal income in May rose by 0.2 percent. This was the 12th consecutive monthly rise. Income is up 4.3 percent from a year ago.

Personal consumption expenditures in May increased by a modest 0.1 percent. Consumer spending is up 5.9 percent from last year.

Interest rates are falling. The 30-year Treasury bond fell to an 8.42 percent yield, down from 8.65 percent the previous week. A month ago, the yield was nine percent. The two- and five-year Treasury notes fell to 7.38 percent, down from 7.56 percent and 8.08 percent respectively.

Consumer loans also have started downward. Interest rates for 30-year fixed mortgages fell to 10.61 percent this week from 10.71 last week. The average FHA mortgage interest rate dropped to 10.01 percent, from 10.25 percent, the first significant decline for both since March 25.

May housing starts fell to 1.62 million annually, seasonally adjusted. The decline was attributed to previous increases in mortgage interest rates and the loss of tax incentives for the construction of multi-family housing units. Look for a recovery in housing production by the end of the summer, as interest rates fall.

FOREIGN FACTORS. News from abroad indicates that the U.S. economy may be getting an additional shot in the arm.

The Japanese economy for the first quarter of 1987 grew at an annual rate of 4.9 percent faster than had been predicted. A stronger Japanese economy is forecast to absorb American goods, thereby reducing our trade deficit.

Mexico is on the way to recovery, albeit gradually. Already posting a $3 billion trade surplus through April, Mexico's economy is diversifying. In 1985, 70 percent of Mexico's foreign sales consisted of crude oil. In 1987, that proportion has declined to 40 percent, despite the recent upsurge in oil prices.

The international banking system is getting stronger. British banks are following their U.S. counterparts as they increase loan loss reserves for troubled foreign debts.

Abbott Gets Award For Aiding Disabled

Abbott Laboratories has received a national award for assisting sheltered workshops, in which physically or mentally handicapped individuals work on projects for various companies.

The 1986 Defense Logistics Agency Award for Excellence was presented by Elvind H. Johansen, president of National Industries for the Severely Handicapped (NISH), at the NISH national conference in Albuquerque, N.M., in April.

Abbott was chosen for the award from among 1,200 companies that support NISH workshops through purchasing programs and other forms of assistance.

"This award marks the success with which the business community and work centers can cooperate to produce quality goods and services while serving an important element of our population—persons with severe disabilities," Johansen said.

Routine assembly and packaging projects contracted to the workshops help to employ handicapped workers. These jobs permit workshop clients to earn wages and become productive members of their communities.

"As a health-care company, Abbott is interested in improving the quality of human life," said Will Stewart, manager of purchasing administration and minority business development at Abbott. "Our projects support more than 600 handicapped employees in various workshops across the U.S."

In 1986, Abbott projects were completed at Countryside Association for the Handicapped Inc., in Barrington; Lake County Society for Human Development in Zion; The Lambs Inc. in Libertyville; Pioneer Center for the Exceptional in McHenry; and other workshop facilities across the country.

Last year, Abbott received two awards for supporting sheltered workshops: the Defense Logistics Agency Regional Award and the National Institute for the Severely Handicapped (NISH) Award of Excellence.

Investors Stronger On Finance Control

Tax reform has not caused the amount of scrambling among financial planners and brokers that many anticipated, according to J.

Kenneth Rosko, a financial planner and a registered representative of FSC Securities Corporation (member NASD, SIPC).

"Clients seem to want a lot more input and advice from their planners now than they did before tax reform," Rosko said.

"Many clients are confused about the changes and about what products are now available to them. Some even clip ads for products and bring them up for discussion."

Rosko said investors are not only becoming more sophisticated and more aware of what they can and cannot do, but they are taking a more active role in the decision process.

I feel we are seeing a much wiser, more informed client, particularly since tax reform has made individual investors give a lot of thought to change and how that change affects everything they do concerning their financial future," added Rosko. "I find this new client involvement both refreshing and beneficial."

In anticipation of tax reform, Rosko said the industry witnessed many syndicators busy structuring "passive income" investments. "But not everyone needs passive income," he added.

"There may be other options for clients who now find they have enormous losses through former syndications that they can't use under tax reform."

Rosko said, "Now that many clients have gone from the 50 percent tax bracket to the 38 percent tax bracket, we are looking at write-offs at about 50 percent and more cash flow - around 10 to 11 percent. We are searching for financially sound real estate programs and are interested in four to eight year municipal bonds for our 38 percent clients."

Rosko also said insurance products - especially universal life and single premium policies that allow clients to accumulate capital tax deferred - are hot items.

"Since the IRA is not as attractive and the 401(k) has been reduced, it's difficult to find vehicles that are appropriate for tax-deferral strategies. Insurance companies are offering products that look good and are competitive as well."

A healthy financial plan, Rosko concluded, needs a well balanced portfolio consisting of emergency reserves, liquidity, an insurance program that is well-managed and reviewed frequently, an estate plan that is up to date, a retirement plan, annuities, tangible assets, shelters, and perhaps a spattering of speculative investments.

Use Common Sense For Safe Travel

by JIM WARNEK

President, North Star Travel, Inc.

With worldwide terrorism, is there any safe place left to vacation? The truth is, most tourist destinations are safer than your own backyard! Your chances of becoming a homicide victim on your way to work are hundreds of times greater than being involved in a terrorist attack on vacation in Europe. Being hit by lightning while playing golf on Sunday is far more likely than being hijacked on your flight to Italy.

There are areas of the world to avoid, but they are not normally visited by tourists. (Not too many people are requesting a cruise to the Persian Gulf right now.) Realistically, the U.S. Dept. of Foreign Travel publishes travel warnings of unsafe travel areas. This information may be obtained from most automated travel agencies.

When visiting any city, be it Bangkok or Boston, use common sense. By all means, get off the beaten path and enjoy the real flavor of a city. But remember there is a difference between a well-kept ethnic neighborhood and a crime-ridden slum. If you are not sure of an area, ask at your hotel. Better yet, ask a cab driver.

Carl Maulden has told us about the safety of traveler's checks. All good advice. Let's go one step further. Don't keep the stubs with the checks. Call didn't tell you that if you lose both, you've got real problems. It is a good idea to leave your check numbers at home with a friend. This will help in replacing the checks if you do lose the stubs, too.

A U.S. passport is very valuable anywhere overseas. Keep it on your person at all times. Make a photocopy and keep it with other valuables in the hotel safe. This will aid in replacement if you do lose your passport.

Exercise additional caution in protecting your valuables. While violent crimes are uncommon in most tourist areas, theft is much more prevalent. How many times have we put our wallet under our beach blanket or in a shoe while at the beach? Your average thief knows this trick all too well.

One more tip: Use luggage tags which have a cover over your name and address. If a burglar wants to know who will be gone for the week, he need only to stand around the check-in line at the airport and look at luggage tags.

With a little common sense, all the memories of your trip will be pleasant.

Where Did It Go?

Mohawks Hope Their Peak Comes At Right Time

Peaking at the right time is just what the Grayslake Mohawks appear to be doing right now.

The team won all three games last week to improve its overall record to 23-11 heading into the final week of the regular season. The Mohawks reached their goal of a .500 season in the North Suburban League at 9-9 and have already locked up the Eastern Division title in the Mike's Memorial League play.

"The defense is starting to play ball and I really think we're starting to peak," manager Tom Hunt said.

Four players have had a hot bat as of late. Clint Rodriguez has had a 10-game hitting streak to improve his batting average to .529; Steve Taylor is at .419; Jeff Taylor .413 and Rusty Welch has improved to .389.

Joe Meyer pitched a two-hit shutout as Grayslake beat Waukegan 10-0. He fanned six hitters.

Grayslake scored all of its runs in the first four innings. John Hunt was three-for-three while David Carrillo, Steve Taylor, Rodriguez and Welch all contributed two hits apiece.

Honor Carmel Players At Camp

Three Carmel High School football players were recognized as outstanding at the conclusion of Midwest Contact Football camp at Concordia at Concordia College, River Forest.

They are: Jeff Zgona, Long Grove; Rob Koseor, Fox Lake and Bob Schroeder, Long Lake. All are seniors playing line positions.

Five players from each team playing a final day game were singled out for honors.

Approximately 240 players from a five-state area took part in the camp conducted by college coaches with professionals as assistants.

Mustangs, 'Devils, Wildcats Dominate Softball Picks

Mundelein and Libertyville, co-champs in the North Suburban Conference standings, came away as big winners on the all-NSC voting. The Mustangs and Wildcats both placed five players on the elite squad.

Sophomore pitching star Susan Musselwhite led Mundelein's selections as she was a unanimous pick. Senior Kelly Magoo and Debbie Gottstein were both named as well as juniors Kim Shark and Chris Churchill.

Libertyville pitcher Deena Reitman, a senior, made the list as a unanimous pick. Seniors Heidi Coulson, Julie O'Toole and Kim Viduski made the squad along with junior Jamie Evans.

Warren's Terri Ingalls was a unanimous pick as a junior. Other Blue Devils on the team were; seniors Lisa Gowe and Dawn Benders and junior Jennifer Marker.

Antioch's Julie Sexton, a senior who is headed to Northern Illinois University, was on the unanimous list. Juniors Kristin Kirkegaard and Debbie Henning also made the team.

North Chicago's representative was Belvia Flores, a junior.

Warren placed third in the league race at 15-3, followed by Antioch at 12-6 and Fenton at 9-9. Niles North, Stevenson and Zion-Benton were at 6-12 and North Chicago 3-15. Lake Forest was last at 1-17.

Sage, Morris Help Aurora To 31 Win Baseball Season

The fortunes of the 1987 Aurora University baseball team continued to grow as two area players gained post-season honors this spring.

Maurey Sage, a sophomore pitcher from Vernon Hills and a graduate of Grayslake High School, was named to the American Baseball Coaches Assn.'s NCAA Division III All-American second team and All-Mideast Region first team.

Teammate Mark Morris, a senior shortstop and graduate of Wauconda High School, was named to the All-Midwest Region first team.

Sage, a 5-11, 175 pound right-hander, posted an 8-1 record with a 2.10 earned run average in 68 and one-third innings pitched. He had one save, 18 walks and gave up 53 hits and 19 runs. Sage led the team in strikeouts with 67 and also was named All-Northern Illinois Intercollegiate Conference team.

Morris, a 6-1, 180 pound left-handed hitter, was one of the Spartans' offensive leaders with 51 hits, 39 runs and a .392 batting average. He also hit nine doubles, one triple, and 37 runs batted in while striking out just 10 times in 130 at bats.

CHS To Examine Candidates For Belmont's Replacement

Carmel High School basketball coaches wishing to replace Frank Belmont as head varsity coach have until July 2 to get their applications in.

Carmel Athletic Director Bud Grover said the replacement search will begin in earnest after the screening of in-house candidates. Possible in-house replacements include varsity assistants Dave Worklan and Scott Rosberg and Jay Hoffmann. Worklan came to Carmel after leading Grayslake to a regional championship as a head coach.

Belmont announced his intentions to resign the post he has held for seven seasons in order to take the same position at Waukegan West.

"I think Frank has done a super job. We really hate to lose him," Grover said.

Belmont, who guided his team to two straight supersectional appearances in 1984-85 and 1985-86, has chalked up more than 150 victories at the Mundelein school.

"I just thought there was an opportunity there. A lot of different reasons, both personal and professional, were part of the decision," Belmont said.

At the time, Belmont was looking over Carmel's basketball camp. As youngsters worked on free throws, Belmont said the decision to leave was not an easy one.

"It was a very difficult decision to make. Carmel represents a tremendous school community," Belmont said.

Belmont said a series of camps at Waukegan West this summer will allow him to evaluate the talent there.

Area fans watching West games should not expect a vast change from Belmont's coaching style he has used successfully with the Corsairs.

"West has players who are suited to the running game but to do that you need defense," Belmont said.

Belmont, a former college basketball player, spent two years as an assistant before taking over the Carmel program seven seasons ago. He said a key in his coaching career came while a student at Southwest State University.

"I had a good experience my senior year in college and a lot of what I know about basketball can be traced to that," Belmont said.

Flo's, State Bank Win Division Titles

State Bank and Flo's both won division titles during Antioch girls softball team regular season play.

State Bank won the Division A title with a 9-3 record. Lake Villa was second at 8-4 and Heath third at 7-5.

Flo's won the Division B title with a 7-5 mark followed by Thelon's Sand and Gravel at 5-7 and Pickard finished at 0-12.

State Bank and Flor's are competing in a three-game series to determine the league title.

In last week's games, Lake Villa beat Heath 19-11; Flo's topped State Bank 4-1; Thelon's neat Pickard's 12-11 and State Bank beat Heath 26-6.

Rockets To Glare In Lakeland Skies

by GLORIA DAVIS

The words Fourth of July conjure up pictures of fiery sunbursts exploding against a midnight blue summer sky and blazing red, white and blue flags sizzling in a fireworks finale. One also thinks of picnics, lemonade and hot dogs, stomachaches and ants, lots and lots of ants.

But July 4 mainly means fireworks. Many families still have their own fireworks display where their sale is legal, although the cost has been escalating and every year, local law enforcement agencies, stress specific safety factors to be adhered to to make it a happy and safe Fourth.

Specific types of fireworks can be purchased in both Lake and Kenosha counties but many of the shimmering rocket type devices are considered illegal and best left to professional fireworks handler.

Professional fireworks shows are not as plentiful as they used to be mainly because of the increasing costs but residents and visitors to both Lake and Kenosha Counties have several places that they can go to celebrate the Fourth of July in a traditional manner by watching colorful, glittery and noisy explosions light up the holiday sky.

With the actual holiday falling on Saturday, most of the fireworks displays will take place at dusk on July 4.

The grandest fireworks display has been scheduled to explode in the skies over Six Flags Great America at 10 p.m. and another fireworks extravaganza will burst over the Abbey in Fontana, just over the Wisconsin border after the sun sets on July 4.

The only other large display in southeastern Wisconsin is slated for Kenosha's lakefront, at Simmons Island.

Antioch's "Old Fashioned Fourth" will end with a grand fireworks display in Williams Park.

Probably the most unusual and most impressive "bang-up" Fourth is scheduled to take place at Ft. Sheridan in Highwood when the Fourth Army Band's rendition of the "1812 Overture" will be punctuated with loud salutes from 75mm Howitzers.

In Mundelein, the Mundelein Community Days Celebration will have fireworks at 9:15 p.m. in Kraeklauer Park and in Vernon Hills they will go off approximately at 9 p.m., in New Century Town.

The Round Lake Area Park Dist. will sponsor fireworks at Hart's Hill on Saturday, July 4, at dusk, viewable from Hart's Woods Park. Suggested parking will be at the Parks Dist. Community Center, Ace Hardware on Rte. 34, the Village School or at the Round Lake Train Station.

Fox Lake's fireworks will start at 8:45 p.m. on Saturday over Mineola Bay with a rain date of July 5.

Reports are that Fox Lake is spending over $6,000 for its fireworks show.

North Chicagoans will join Waukeganites in watching the display at the lakefront at 7:30 p.m., starting with a band concert. Again the "1812 Overture" will lead directly into the fireworks.

Residents in Wauconda and Island Lake will celebrate a gleaming, bang-up Fourth with a fireworks display on Friday, July 3, at dusk. This will be the fourth year in a row that the Lions Club will sponsor the fireworks set to go off by the new water tower in Island Lake starting at 6 p.m.

Have a happy and safe Fourth, "Leave the explosions to them!"

Cars-1886-1987

Autos 1886-1987 On Display At Museum

Replicas of the world's first gasoline-powered vehicles are on display at the Museum of Science and Industry until Sept. 7, as part of an exhibit focusing on the 100th anniversary of the automobile.

Entitled "Automobiles: The First Century," the exhibit is a social history of an invention which has changed America's way of life.

The three-wheel 1886 Benz "Patent Motor Wagon" is the feature of the exhibit.

Patented on Jan. 29, 1886, the Benz is considered the world's first automobile. The original is on display in Munich's Deutsches Museum.

Also on display will be a replica of the world's first gasoline-powered vehicle, a motorcycle built by Gottlieb Daimler with the assistance of Wilhelm Maybach. Patented on Aug. 29, 1885, this motorized bicycle had small wooden wheels akin to training wheels to steady the vehicle in turns.

After successful tests of the 1885 motorcycle, Daimler and Maybach took the next step in developing an automobile, built by fitting a four-wheel carriage with a compact, high-speed Daimler engine during the fall of 1886. A replica of this former horsedrawn carriage will also be on hand.

The three replicas were made by apprentices at Daimler-Benz plants in Germany where Mercedes-Benz cars are produced. The apprentices, representing 13 different technical trades at 10 Mercedes facilities, worked on the historic vehicles for two years using only materials available a century ago.

All three replicas operate on basic gasoline-rated at 57 octane—similar to camping stove or lantern fuel.

Bog Seeks Volunteers

The Volo Bog State Natural Area in Ingleside is presently seeking more volunteers to expand its upcoming school programs. Energetic people are needed to lead youth programs, develop a reference library and do a variety of artwork projects for display. Those interested may contact the park interpreter at (815)344-1294.

Planning To Celebrate Daffy Duck's Birthday

Six Flags Great America presents the third annual Kidsfest celebration. The popular three-week festival for the young and young-at-heart runs July 6-26. Kidsfest features an exciting line-up of entertainment, a very special birthday party in Bugs Bunny Land, plus a special admission price for the smallest guests!

Children ages four to ten will be admitted to the park for $11.35. That's $5 off the regular admission price! Special Kidsfest tickets can be purchased at the park's front gate or at any Dominick's Finer Foods Store in the Chicago area.

Great America takes on a whole different look during Kidsfest. Colorful balloons and flags are everywhere! And, there's street entertainers galore, including jugglers, clowns, puppeteers and musicians roving throughout the park.

Highlighting Kidsfest will be a birthday party for Daffy Duck on Sunday, July 12. Believe it or not, the lovable duck is 50 years old this year. Guests can join Daffy Duck for a piece of birthday cake that afternoon in Bugs Bunny Land.

Kids can also enjoy seeing daily performances of The Chinese Acrobats, in the Grand Music Hall, the U.S. High Diving Team, in Wilderness Theater, and Bugs Bunny Goin' Hollywood, in Theatre Royale.

The United States Air Force Precision Drill Team will perform in Pictorium Plaza, July 9-13. The 25-member drill team demonstrates complex routines with fully operational M-1 rifles with fixed bayonets that weigh over 13 pounds!

The Hometown Square Special Events Stage features a variety of entertainment for smallest guests during Kidsfest.

County Community Concerts To Run Musical Gamut

Lake County Community Concert Assn. president Katie Paul has announced that memberships for the association's 1987-88 season series are still available, but quick action is necessary to insure inclusion before the membership drive closes.

Information about how one can purchase a membership may be obtained from association secretary Helen Sorvari at (312)623-3178.

Six concerts by nationally and internationally acclaimed musical artists comprise the 1987-88 series. All concerts will be held on Saturday evenings in Waukegan West High School auditorium. Admission is by season membership only. Tickets to individual concerts are not available. Price for a season membership is $25 for adults and $10 for students through high school age.

Leading off with the first concert of the series, on Oct. 24, the Sofia Chamber Orchestra, a 15-member group recognized as one of the finest chamber ensembles in Europe, will perform music ranging from Baroque classics to contemporary. Virtuoso violinist Mincho Minchev will be featured as soloist.

The Johnny Mann Singers and Dancers will appear on Nov. 7 with a heart-warming presentation of American history emphasizing the best things about America, entitled "Stand Up and Cheer."

On Feb. 27, 1988, the Phillipine Dance Co. brings a program displaying the charm and intense beauty of the varied Phillipine cultural heritage. Marking its 11th visit to the United States, this group has garnered rave reviews in more than a dozen countries.

Wide diversity of musical programming is a hallmark of the Empire Brass Quintet which will perform at the March 12 concert. From Bach to Bernstein and from Gershwin to Jelly Roll Morton, the group's repertoire has pleased a world-wide audience on its annual tours.

On March 26, Nina Svetlanova, a world renowned pianist and native of Russia, will capture the imagination of her audience with a sparkling concert. Svetlanova has concertized in almost every corner of the world and is an important piano pedagogue in New York City.

Concluding the series on April 9, Talisman, a six-voice male vocal ensemble, will present a concert surveying six centuries of choral literature. Each member of this group is an experienced soloist in his own right, and together they produce a unique vocal color and perform with striking precision.

The Shadows of Knight, singing group famous during the 1960s-70s, especially for their rendition of 'G-L-O-R-I-A, Gloria,' will be one of many groups featured at Round Lake Beach's 50th Anniversary celebration, July 9-12.

Looking For Golfers To Play On Charity Outing

Robert Sabonjian, mayor of Waukegan, announced that the Fourth Annual Lake County Golf Outing will tee off once again on Wednesday, Sept. 2. As honorary chairman, Sabonjian invites Lake County golfers to join celebrities in golf foursomes at the Midlane Country Club, Yorkhouse and Delany Rd. in Waukegan.

Co-chairmen Tom Doddington and Sam Rinella are again gathering Chicagoland celebrities to golf in the outing which benefits the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

"The best part of the Lake County Golf Outing is the comradery between the golfers," says Doddington. "A full day of golfing and relaxed socializing is, for me, a perfect way to spend a day."

The day-long golf package includes green fees, morning coffee and rolls, lunch, and an awards dinner. Special extras such as gas carts, and use of locker rooms, showers, and towels, will be provided to guests. Highlights of the golf outing are door prizes and golf trophies.

For information, contact Elizabeth Kretschmer of the CF Foundation 1-800-824-5064 (toll-free).

Sign Rare Earth

Blue Suede Shoes, the mid-western '50s and '60s night-club, will present Rare Earth live in concert on Tuesday, July 7 at its Park City location, 580 Old Skokie Rd.

The band will also appear on Wednesday, July 8, at Blue Suede Shoes in Franklin, Wis., 10741 S. 27th St.

Deciding to tour again, Rare Earth promises to excite audiences as they have in over 800 concerts with such million-selling classics as "Get Ready," "Hey Big Brother," "I Just Want to Celebrate," and "Losing You."

Tickets for the Rare Earth concert may be purchased at Blue Suede Shoes, all Ticketron locations and Sears stores.

Music Under Stars Coming To Hawthorn

An extra special treat for music lovers—beginning Thursday evenings, July 9, 16, and 23 at 9:15 p.m., Hawthorn Center will hold their "Music Under the Stars" summer concert series in the northwest parking lot.

These free concerts feature a variety of music by favorite top-name talents: On July 9, the Lettermen; on July 16, the Glenn Miller Orchestra, and on July 23, the Serendipity Singers.

Chairs are provided or everyone is welcome to bring their own. And, of course, there's plenty of free parking.

Sit back at 9:15 p.m. at the concert site and listen to the quality musical entertainment Hawthorn Center has planned—it's a perfect way to spend a summer evening with the entire family.

Hawthorn Center is located on Rte. 21 (Milwaukee Ave.) and Rte. 60 (Town Line Rd.) in the Village of Vernon Hills.

Plan Festive, Fun Filled Centennial Celebration

In keeping with the year-long celebration of its Centennial anniversary, Fort Sheridan plans to host a bigger-than ever full-day program for its public Independence Day observance on Saturday, July 4.

Following its joint parade participation with Highland Park and Highwood through Central Ave. to Sunset Park, the Color Guard, Fourth Army Band and the post's colorful Centennial Parade Float will return to Fort Sheridan for the formal "Salute the States" at noon before the post flagpole, featuring a cannon round for each state as it is called out.

Picnic activity, plenty of food and beverages and good music are the order of the day until about 8 p.m. when the Fourth Army Band performs its special Independence Day concert, followed by the spectacular fireworks show sponsored by Highland Park and Highwood as well as the Fort Sheridan community.

Music continues through midnight for guests and post families choosing to remain.

In addition to the games, music, food, and picnicking, the Fort Sheridan visitors can see an open exhibit of Army vehicles and other equipment, including an Army UH-1H helicopter, scheduled to land at 1 p.m.

Several favorite dining spots are among the food purveyors scheduled to be on hand at the celebration site in the north portion of post grounds.

Featured musical groups entertaining will be country-western Vigilanti Band 12:30-4 p.m., New Vision Band for "top 40" tunes 4-8 p.m., and Tanya and the Rattlers from 9:45 p.m. to midnight.

But the highlight for many visitors and guests will be the performance of the Tchaikovsky "1812 Overture" by the Fourth Army Band highlighted by cannon-fire from 75 mm. Howitzers at the lakefront.

Fort Sheridan officials have expressed confidence that special parking areas at the north end of the grounds, plus auxiliary paved parking lots designated for use, with shuttle buses to the celebration scene, will be more than ample for the expected crowds.

Visitors from the civilian community choosing not to drive to Fort Sheridan may take shuttle buses to the post from parking areas at Sunset Park in Highland Park.

This will be the fourth year of Fort Sheridan's public Independence Day program in a carnival and picnic environment. For many years, the public was invited to a mid-afternoon ceremony saluting the states, followed by a guest speaker and one-hour concert ending at about 3:30 p.m.

ROCK TRACKS

By Rob Ferrus

The best revenge is yet to come, though this revenge happens to be in the form of the Eurythmics' live album. Slated for a late summer/early fall release, the new LP captures the intensity of their critically acclaimed "Revenge" tour. Also in the final stages of post-production is the film version of the tour which should be interesting. Distribution plans will be announced soon, but meanwhile the Eurythmics plan to start working on a new studio album after some concert dates in Israel and Europe this summer. *****

Anita Pointer has just begun working on her debut solo album. Along with her activities as a member of The Pointer Sisters, Anita is in the studio with producer Preston Glass, who also produced Kenny G. and Starpoint and written for Aretha Franklin and George Benson. The LP, which is being recorded in Sausalito, Ca., is scheduled for an August release. *****

It's a rare occurrence for a record company to release a double album for a relatively new artist, but in Jonathan Butler's case they made an exception. At the age of 25, the guitarist/singer/songwriter has established a firm reputation with producers and fellow songwriters.

Last February
in our Rehabilitation unit we put 7 stroke patients back on their feet, taught a secretary how to type again, showed a carpenter
how to hammer left handed
...and made sure one young blushing bride walked proudly down the aisle.

We believe in happy endings.

Perhaps the most difficult aspect of a disabling illness or injury is the aftermath . . . the days and weeks of learning to deal with a new reality.

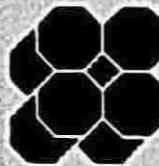

In our Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation department, each patient receives a complete and individualized program of therapy from a team of skilled professionals. And while we work to overcome the physical challenges of today, we also provide a focus on tomorrow. Because there is life to be lived . . . and there are dreams to be fulfilled.

Like getting to the church on time.

Water, Water Everywhere And Nary A Drop To Sprinkle

by CHARLES JOHNSTON Water.

The more sophisticated society gets, the more sophisticated are the problems in delivering a reliable supply of potable water.

In the past month, at least four Lakeland area communities have put a ban on lawn sprinkling, car washing, or some other water uses during daytime hours. Lindenhurst, Round Lake Beach, Fox Lake and Round Lake Park have all restricted daytime lawn sprinkling until further notice.

Most local officials blame the unseasonably dry weather this year for depleting some water supplies.

But Ron Riepe, geologist at the College of Lake County, has a different explanation.

"It takes several years of dry weather for the water table to drop," he said, noting that it has not been particularly wet the last few years.

He said that last year's flooding did no practical good in replenishing the water supply. "Because of the high clay content of our soils, the ground gets saturated quickly and the excess water runs off before seeping into the aquifers," he said. "A deluge does no good; what we need is a lot of 'slow soakers' over an extended period of time to do any good."

Riepe lays the blame for depletion of water supplies squarely on growth. More water is being pumped each year as more homes and businesses are built in Lake County. But he does not consider the situation hopeless.

"Lake Michigan water can supply all the collar counties of the Chicagoland area without any bad effects. It is good, clean water, too," he said. Riepe cited a study quoted by Congressman John Porter (R-10th) showing that the flow of water from Lake Michigan could be quadrupled without having a serious effect on the lake.

Municipal officials have a hard time in determining what is best to do to supply their communities with water. Deep wells, which reach into the St. Peter's sandstone more than 1,000 feet below the surface, are almost without pollution and are a very reliable supply of water. But as many communities have learned, this clean water carries small amounts of naturally occurring radiation beyond the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency limits.

So most communities are relying on a blending of shallow wells, which reach into sand and gravel beds beneath glacial material, and water from the deep wells. The water from shallow wells, though, is much harder and carries with it the more conventional pollution problems.

Also, as Riepe notes, the more communities rely on shallow wells, the more vulnerable they are to drought conditions.

So when, the reader may ask, will he be able to sprinkle his lawn and wash his car during the day? The apparent answer when Lake Michigan becomes the prime source

Even then, water will be more plentiful but, defiance of the law of supply and demand, it will also significantly more expensive.

The Lake County Sheriff's Department and Crime Stoppers are seeking information on a hit and run fatal accident which occurred on Grand Ave. (Rte. 132), three tenths of a mile west of Dilley's Rd. in the west bound lanes.

A bicycle rider 15 years of age was struck by a pick-up truck in the outer west bound lane during rush hour at approximately 5:04 p.m. on Thursday, June 18.

The offending vehicle was a dark-colored pickup truck with plywood sides and possibly right-front damage. The driver is described as a white male, 25-35 years of age, dark scraggly hair over the ears, mustache and a suntanned complexion.

Anyone having information about this crime or any other felony crime or felony fugitive is urged to contact Crime Stoppers at (312) 662-2222.

Information resulting in an arrest and indictment makes callers eligible for a cash reward up to $1,000. Callers need not give their name.

HUNTER

Hunter (Fred Dryer) and Dee (Stephanie Kramer, r.) protect a concert pianist (guest star Theresa Saldaña) after she is threatened, in the "Any Second Now" episode of "Hunter." The NBC series airs SATURDAY, JULY 11.

CHECK LISTINGS
FOR EXACT TIME

What's Happening ...

Atari Enthusiasts To Meet

The Lake County Atari Computer Enthusiasts will hold their monthly meeting from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, July 11. All computer users are welcome to attend. The meeting, at Libertyville Twp. Hall, 359 Merrill Ct. in Libertyville, will feature computer instruction, demonstrations and vendors. For more information, call (312)223-1832.

Volleyball For Singles

Outdoor volleyball for single young adults ages 21 through 38 is sponsored from 7 to 9 p.m. on Tuesdays by the Catholic Alumni Club. Games are held at Belvidere Park, Belvidere Rd. (Rte. 120) and Lewis Ave. in Waukegan. There is no fee, and all levels of ability are welcome. For more information, and a free CAC newsletter, call (312)726-0735.

Hosts Frank Lloyd Wright Tour

Two Frank Lloyd Wright masterpieces in Racine, Wis., will be showcased in a day-long tour Tuesday, July 14, sponsored by the College of Lake County Southlake Educational Center. "Frank Lloyd Wright in Racine" includes a tour of the Johnson Wax plant and the rambling Johnson home. The tour also includes a visit to the Victorian part of town and past several spectacular estates. The tour will leave the Southlake Educational Center, 1860 First St. in Highland Park at 9 a.m., and run until approximately 3 p.m. The $30 fee covers transportation, lunch and guided tour. For registration and information, phone (312)433-7884.

Club Brunch

A brunch and fashion show will be hosted by the Northwest Suburban Christian Women's Club on Thursday, July 9, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., at Concorde Banquets, Rte. 12 just north of Quentin Rd. The Gap in Arlington Heights will present the fashion show, and music will be provided by Michelle Helms of Kildeer. Guest speaker Kathy Bohm will share her experiences as a former teen-age drug abuser. Cost is $6.50. Free nursery care will be provided.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

America Declared Her Independence on July 4th, 1776

On this day, in 1776, the Continental Congress signed into being our Declaration of Independence from Great Britain. Its opening statement began... "We hold these truths to be self-evident. That all men are created equal. That they are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights. Among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." Let us reaffirm those words now, as we celebrate the birthday of our nation, rededicating continued faith in this commitment to freedom for all, for the benefit of all.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, AMERICA!

Nordby Wins Tourney

Mark Nordby came away with four points and the tournament championship at the Mundelein stop of the Coca Cola-Lakeland Newspapers-Penn tennis tournament.

Zion will be the next stop for players with the championship being played July 2 in order to give competitors the July 4th weekend off.

Nordby topped Don Korjenek for the title. Korjenek picked up three points for his efforts. Nordby automatically advances to the championship round hosted by Waukegan Park Dist. Aug. 14-16.

Nordby joins Bob Moran as automatic qualifiers. Moran won the Grayslake-Round Lake championship.

Also earning points at Mundelein were: Ben Floyd (two), Jerry Spiller (two), Greg Mikolajczk (one) and Mark Kucher (one).

Dave Buksa won the tournament at Gurnee. Jim DeZasquez, Moran and Short earned two points each. Jerry Spillman, Don Korjenek, Butch Law and Nordby had one point.

17 Area Students Rate List

Seventeen area students were named to the Dean's List at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, for the spring 1987 semester.

Dean's List recognition goes to students who meet performance standards set by SIU's various schools and colleges.

Local students are: Christine Kozenksi, Antioch; Steven Gore, Fox Lake; David Rinker, Grayslake; Glenda Hunsaker, Great Lakes; Paul Deboer, Jane Fitzsimmons and Kristine Gardner, Gurnee; Robert Grassly, Hawthorn Woods.

Also, Laura Burens, Deborah Longley and Kurt Sorby, Mundelein; Michael I. Johnson, North Chicago; Jennifer Rollo, Vernon Hills; James Roode, Wadsworth; Lane Hironimus, Edward Kipp and Victoria Nitka, Wauconda; and Michael L. Miller, Wildwood.

Class 5. Oilers.

Other Classifications of Work: For definitions of classifications not otherwise set out, the Department generally has on file such definitions which are available. If there is no such definitions on file, the Bureau of Labor Statistics SIC list will be used. If a task to be performed is not subject to one of the classifications of pay set out, the Department will upon being contacted state which neighboring county has such a classification and provide such rate, such rate being deemed to exist by reference in this document. Further, if no such neighboring county rate applies to the task, the Department shall undertake a special determination, such special determination being then deemed to have existed under this determination.

Advertising / Marketing

A self motivated person desirous of finding a place in the challenging field of advertising and marketing will be interested in the opportunity available in the retail advertising department of Lakeland Newspapers.

The person who can work with a minimum of supervision and enjoys utilizing their creative skills to help others will find great satisfaction in this position. Since the position involves making contacts outside the main office, a car is necessary and mileage compensation will be paid.

Inexperience in advertising sales will be no hindrance. We can train you if you have desire, a high level of energy, are dependable and willing to work hard. Persons entering the job market for the first time, returning to the work force after a lapse due to family responsibilities or making a career change are ideal applicants. You will be successful if you are persistent, outgoing, responsible and organized.
